

The Africa Civil Society Network for Water (ANEW) is a regional networking body of African civil society organizations actively involved in the field of sustainable water management, water supply and sanitation. ANEW works to facilitate and support the participation of African civil society organisations in water policy formulation and implementation of development plans in the African water sector.

Address: Africa Civil Society Network for Water (ANEW)